EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

THE IDENTITY THEFT RESOURCE CENTER @ 20

The New Year – 2020 – marks two major milestones in the history of the Identity Theft Resource Center and identity crime. The 20th anniversary of the ITRC and the 15th anniversary of the watershed event that brought the term “data breach” to the public lexicon.

In 2000, we started the year by surviving the Y2K computer scare and ended the year with George W. Bush being elected president of the United States. A gallon of gas cost an average of $1.26 and the Dow Jones Industrial Average hit the peak of the Dot-com era – 11,722.98. And, the ITRC had just opened to provide free assistance to the victims of identity theft and other identity crimes.

Fast forward five years to February 14, 2005; the day when MSNBC broke the story of an unknown data broker based in metro Atlanta that had sent letters to consumers under California’s new Data Breach Notification Law. There had been a handful of other companies who issued notices, but they had not captured the attention of the media, public and policymakers.

As a result, the Identity Theft Resource Center began compiling what has, subsequently, become the most comprehensive repository of information about U.S publicly notified data breaches which have occurred over the past 15 years. The annual ITRC End-of-Year Data Breach Report – sponsored for the sixth year in a row by CyberScout – has become the leading source of data breach trend information used by the news media, researchers, academics, business analysts and public policy staff.

Meanwhile, our core mission remains the same – providing free-of-charge assistance to the victims of identity crimes to individuals and guidance to businesses and government agencies. It would not be possible to offer these services without our generous sponsors and other financial supporters you will find listed on our website.

WHAT HAPPENED IN 2019

When 2018 ended, the number of reported data breaches had dropped for the first time in nearly five years. The number of records exposed was up, but various experts theorized that the number of breaches had peaked. It would take another year to find out if this was a trend or a statistical anomaly.

One year later we know the drop in 2018 was a blip. By October 2019, the number of data breaches reported had already surpassed the annual figure for 2018. We also saw the rise of a significant new threat - data exposure from unsecured databases – and growth of an existing tactic known as credential stuffing where data thieves use seemingly innocuous information like stolen email addresses and logins to attempt to access various kinds of accounts. Third-party vendors also continued to be a source of data breaches through accidental release or supply chain cyberattacks.

Although there may not be an obvious connection between these issues, there is. Unsecured data and credential stuffing attacks were facilitated by the general trend of more people having access to varying levels of technology. Additionally, users may or may not have had the knowledge to ensure they used the technology in a secure way.

Likewise, convenience continued to be an enabler of data breaches and unsecure data. Consumers/businesses want ease of access to their data and frictionless transactions. Greater security measures often mean creating barriers to accessing data – which means more hoops to jump through and delays in completing a transaction. Shortcuts to strong security create a vulnerability that are easy to exploit, such as default security tools that do not force an automatic configuration update upon installation or easy-to-use/duplicated usernames and passwords.

UNSECURED DATA

Unlike a data breach where there is clear evidence that the data is stolen, an unsecured database may or may not have been accessed by criminals, but the potential exists until the security lapse is corrected.

Cloud providers require their customers who put web applications, databases and other software in a public or private cloud environment to provide their own cybersecurity.

While cloud providers may offer some basic tools, they do not require customers to use them, including something as basic as a password.

In 2019, a number of large organizations simply failed to add a password to protect their cloud-based data. In most cases, it is not known if the data was downloaded by criminals and it may take months to years before the data surfaces in criminal data marketplaces before anyone knows for certain.

Businesses that deploy databases in public or private cloud environments have the primary responsibility for securing their databases. However, the increasing number of databases with no default security indicates cloud providers should force customers to install minimum levels of security to prevent accidental exposure.

The most headline grabbing example of these new types of information risk include:

| Top 10 Unsecured Database Breaches | |
|---|-----------------|
| Entity | Records Exposed |
| Ladders | 13,700,000 |
| Ifficient | 8,000,000 |
| Adobe Creative Cloud | 7,000,000 |
| Leadership for Educational Equity (LEE) | 3,690,000 |
| 3Fun | 1,500,000 |
| University of Washington Medical Center ("UW Medicine") | 973,024 |
| Wizards of the Coast - Magic Online and MTG Arena users | 452,634 |
| Jcrush | 200,000 |
| Steps To Recovery | 145,000 |
| SkyMed Medical Evacuation Membership Service | 136,995 |

OF NOTE:

- 33,890,000 records exposed in the top 5 unsecured database breaches were non-sensitive data with 4 of the 5 exposing username/email and password that can lead to credential stuffing.

OTHER NOTABLE UNSECURED DATABASE BREACHES:

- Reported by ITRC with no number of records exposed
1. First American Financial (reported 885 million files exposed – did not give a number for how many people were affected).
 2. Choice Hotels (700,000 customer records – did not specify if the records were one record per individual or multiple records per person).
 3. MedicareSupplement.com (5 million records – did not specify if the records were one per individual or multiple records per person).

NOT REPORTED BY ITRC:

1. Verifications.io – we did not report as there was no US location identified. Exposed 763 million dates of birth, email addresses, employer names, genders, geographic locations, IP addresses, job titles, names, phone numbers, and physical addresses. See: <https://haveibeenpwned.com/PwnedWebsites#VerificationsIO>
2. Collections 1-5 – “Collections” (as they’ve been identified on the Dark Web) have been categorized as available data from previously breached entities that was aggregated by another hacker to maximize its value for resale
 - Collection 1 - not reported since no business confirmed to be the owner of the data. Exposed 773 million unique usernames and passwords (see credential stuffing.)
 - Collections 2-5 - 45 gigabytes of stolen data and 25 billion records in all - <https://www.wired.com/story/collection-leak-usernames-passwords-billions/>

CREDENTIAL STUFFING

Credential stuffing is not new, but it has exploded since 2018. A common theme, especially among small and medium businesses (SMBs), is that non-financial data has no value. It is a misconception that only financial information like payment card numbers or bank accounts has monetary value to data thieves.

The theft of email addresses and passwords from businesses of all sizes fuels credential stuffing attacks where criminals use automated systems to attempt to access accounts at a business using the stolen information. Why? Because the vast majority of people – up to 83 percent according to 2018 research - use the same password for more than one account.

So long as people use the same login and password for multiple sites, credential stuffing will continue to be an issue.

NOTEWORTHY CREDENTIAL STUFFING ATTACKS IN 2019 INCLUDE:

- Intuit
- Boost Mobile
- Dunkin Donuts
- Disney+

In each of these attacks, an unknown number of records were exposed and there has been no information as to where the attackers obtained the information.

THIRD-PARTY CONTRACTORS

The 2018 Data Breach Report called attention to the trend of data losses and breaches originating with third-party contractors. These accidental and malicious data events continued to expose both sensitive and non-sensitive data in 2019. Key events included:

- GOVERNMENT AGENCIES
 - » Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA): Inadvertently exposed PII and sensitive PII of 2.3 million survivors of hurricane, wildfire and other natural disasters to its contractor, in an attempt to verify eligibility for the Transitional Sheltering Assistance program. Exposed data fields included applicant street address, city name, ZIP code, financial institution name, electronic funds transfer number and bank transit number.

» U.S. Customs and Border Protection (third-party Perceptics): Without CBP's authorization or knowledge, the contractor (Perceptics) transferred copies of an undisclosed number of license plate images and traveler images collected by CBP to the subcontractor's company network. The company's network was then hacked, exposing consumer biometrics.

» Click2Gov: In 2018, it was first reported that Click2Gov, a self-service bill-pay portal for utilities, community development and parking tickets had compromised dozens of cities in the United States and Canada from 2017 through 2018 exposing hundreds of thousands (300,000 according to Gemini Advisory) of payment card details. In September of 2019, another wave of Click2Gov breaches emerged, although the issue was thought to have been fixed. Gemini Advisory reported in September that the second wave of Click2Gov breaches had compromised eight cities and 20,000 records, although many of the cities notices of the breach lacked a number of individuals affected. Cities continue to come forward to announce they have been affected by a Click2Gov breach.

- First wave (2017-2018): ITRC has 16 entered with 30,153 records exposed
- Second wave (2019): ITRC has 13 entered with 4,000 records exposed

• MEDICAL

» American Medical Collection Agency (in its entirety): Database had been found for sale on the dark web that included information from 27 separate entities, including AMCA. Information such as names, payment card information, name of lab or medical service provider, date of medical service, referring doctor, some medical information (not including test results), Social Security numbers and contact information was exposed. 24,780,533 records exposed that the ITRC is aware of – there may be more.

• EDUCATION

» Pearson (AIMSWeb 2.0 platform): 13,000 school and university AIMSWeb accounts experienced unauthorized access exposing possibly thousands of student accounts per school. Information possibly exposed differed per school but included information like student name, student date of birth, student email address, staff name, staff date of birth, staff email address, staff job title and more.

LESSONS LEARNED / NEXT STEPS

Even after 15 years of data breach notices, comprehensive information about individual data breaches is hard to come by, even when reported to government officials. As noted elsewhere in this report, more than 10,000 data breaches and data exposures have been publicly reported in the U.S since 2005. Contrast that with the more than 160,000 data breaches reported in the European Union since May 2018. The difference is the EU has a strong data privacy and cybersecurity law that mandates reporting to government officials. The U.S does not.

INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS NEED TO BE TRANSPARENT

To improve the analysis – and ultimately reduce the number of breach events – the type of information reported about a data breach needs to move beyond the broad categories disclosed today. Notifications that categorize compromised data as “employee records” or “financial information” and similar terms have long ceased to be informative and helpful. Rather, breached entities should report specific categories such as date of birth, drivers license, social security number and other data fields.

Increased transparency also requires organizations to share more information about the root cause of a breach and the number of people/accounts/records impacted by the event. Today, too many organizations fail to share their learnings – an especially frustrating circumstance for cybersecurity professionals who need to know as much as possible to prevent other successful attacks. Without specific information about a successful attack vector, Information Security teams cannot adequately prepare for or defend against similar attacks. Likewise, without knowing the size, scope, and impact of past breaches, security experts cannot accurately assess the risks associated with future attacks.

GOVERNMENT HAS A ROLE TO PLAY TOO

Policymakers have an important role to play here. Organizations that have been breached need incentives and/or protections that encourage them to share more information about breaches without fear of complicating the legal and regulatory actions that follow many data breaches.

Likewise, lawmakers and regulators at all levels of government should continue to build frameworks that support best practices for data collection, use, storage, destruction and overall cybersecurity.

New state laws like the California Consumer Privacy Act \(CCPA\), the New York SHIELD Act and proposals in other states encourage public and private enterprises to collect and store less data by giving consumers more rights to access and control their personal information. It's a simple, but effective approach to protecting privacy and personal data: if you don't collect it or store it, it can't be stolen or misused by data thieves.

There is also a need for more involvement from decision makers in government and private industry to increase understanding of how breaches affect individuals and the seriousness of this form of victimization. Along with more organizational resources and policy focus dedicated to prevention of ID crimes, we need more resources to provide support services to victims.

Identity crimes that result from data breaches are real crimes with real victims. We do not deny assistance and support to someone who is the victim of a more traditional crime. We should give identity crime victims access to the same level of resources and tools as do victims of other crimes.

CONSUMERS HAVE THEIR PART TO PLAY

Frictionless engagement doesn't equal consumer-first security. Every time a consumer requests convenience over a more secure engagement, it creates an environment where hackers and bad actors have fewer obstacles to getting to their pay-day. Consumers that continue to value convenience over security place their data in the cross-hairs. Consumers need to evaluate whether the additional convenience of faster access outweighs the increased security that additional measures provide. Does that extra couple of seconds mean more to you than the knowledge that your data is less accessible to ne'er-do-wells looking to profit from your PII?

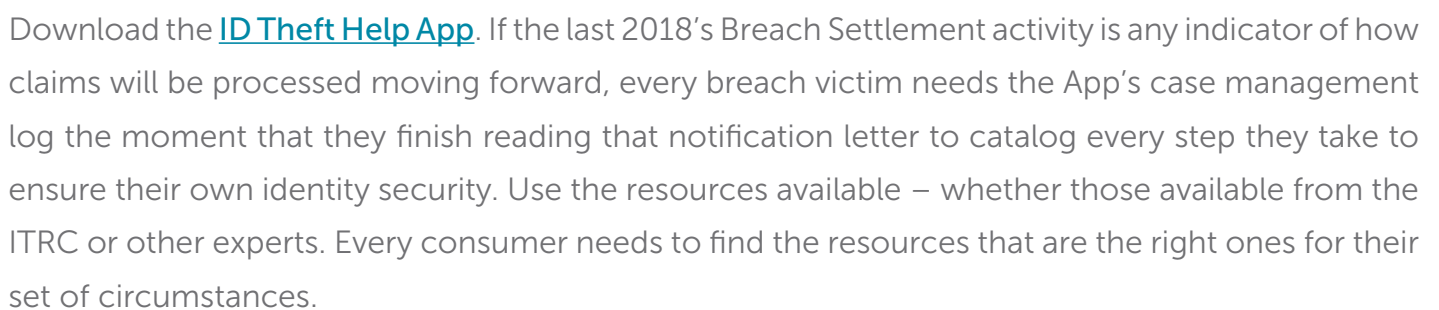

Demanding better security and privacy from the companies with whom we engage isn't an outlandish request. It is feedback on how to best engage with you. And at the end of the day, it's as much the consumer's responsibility to ensure that they are being as security-conscious as possible.

Lastly, consumers have tools available to them but don't dismiss the warning signs. Got a notification letter that your data was exposed? Don't toss it aside and ignore it. See a news story about a breach in the news regarding a company with which you do business? Go get more information to see what you may need to do to minimize your risks.

Download the ID Theft Help App. If the last 2018's Breach Settlement activity is any indicator of how claims will be processed moving forward, every breach victim needs the App's case management log the moment that they finish reading that notification letter to catalog every step they take to ensure their own identity security. Use the resources available – whether those available from the ITRC or other experts. Every consumer needs to find the resources that are the right ones for their set of circumstances.

KEY FINDING #1: 2019 V. 2018

The total number of breaches reported in 2019 (1,473) increased 17 percent from the total number of breaches reported in 2018 (1,257), however the reported number of sensitive consumer records exposed dropped by 65 percent. In 2019, 164,683,455 sensitive records were reported exposed while in 2018, 471,225,862 sensitive records were reported. The 2018 breach of Marriott's records alone exposed 383 million sensitive records, skewing the data significantly. The Business sector experienced the highest number of data breaches for both years, followed by the Medical/Healthcare sector. Although breaches in the Business sector accounted for 44 percent of the total number of breaches in 2019, they only exposed 11 percent of the total number of sensitive records for the year. Breaches in the Banking/Credit/Financial sector exposed 61 percent of sensitive records in 2019, while in 2018 only exposed 0.38 percent of the total number of sensitive records. The 2019 breach at Capital One was responsible for 99 percent of the sensitive records exposed in the Banking/Credit/Financial industry.

For both years, Hacking was the most common method of breach totaling 577 data breaches and exposing 15 million (15,272,609) sensitive records in 2019 compared to 490 data breaches and exposing 18 million (18,611,586) sensitive records in 2018. Hacking also contributed to 81 percent (568,792,077 records) of non-sensitive records exposed. Unauthorized Access was the second most common method of breach for both years as well. Although Unauthorized Access only accounted for 36.5 percent (538 breaches) of the total number of data breaches reported for 2019, it represented 86 percent of the total number of sensitive records exposed in 2019. In 2018, while only responsible for 30 percent of data breaches, Unauthorized Access exposed 90 percent of the overall number of sensitive records.

| DATA BREACHES AND RECORDS EXPOSED PER INDUSTRY PER YEAR | | | | | | |
|---|---------------|---------------------------|-------------------------------|---------------|---------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Industry | 2019 | | | 2018 | | |
| | # of Breaches | Sensitive Records Exposed | Non-Sensitive Records Exposed | # of Breaches | Sensitive Records Exposed | Non-Sensitive Records Exposed |

| TOTALS: | 1,473 | 164,683,455 | 705,174,054 | 1,257 | 471,225,862 | 1,630,729,881 |

KEY FINDING #2: SENSITIVE RECORDS V. NON-SENSITIVE RECORDS PER INDUSTRY

In 2019, 164,683,455 sensitive records were exposed and an additional 705,174,054 non-sensitive records were exposed. The Business sector exposed the highest number of non-sensitive records with a total of 705,106,352 exposed. The Banking/Credit/Financial sector exposed the highest number of sensitive records with a total of 100,621,770 exposed. The Medical/Healthcare sector exposed the second highest number of sensitive records, exposing a total of 39 million (39,378,157) records, and exposing the lowest number of non-sensitive records (1,852) for the year.

It has been generally accepted that the likelihood of identity theft increases when sensitive personally identifiable information (SPII) has been exposed compared to non-sensitive PII. As demonstrated in the amount of records exposed through various breaches, non-sensitive records are becoming highly targeted as many people use non-sensitive PII such as usernames and passwords, to guard sensitive PII such as financial account details. Unfortunately, it is common for consumers to reuse their usernames and passwords, or use similar credentials for other accounts because it is easy to remember. Although initial access may be gained to non-sensitive accounts, if the same credentials are used for other accounts both sensitive and non-sensitive, this can lead to access to a wide-variety of personal information.

KEY FINDING #3: BREACHES VS. RECORDS EXPOSED

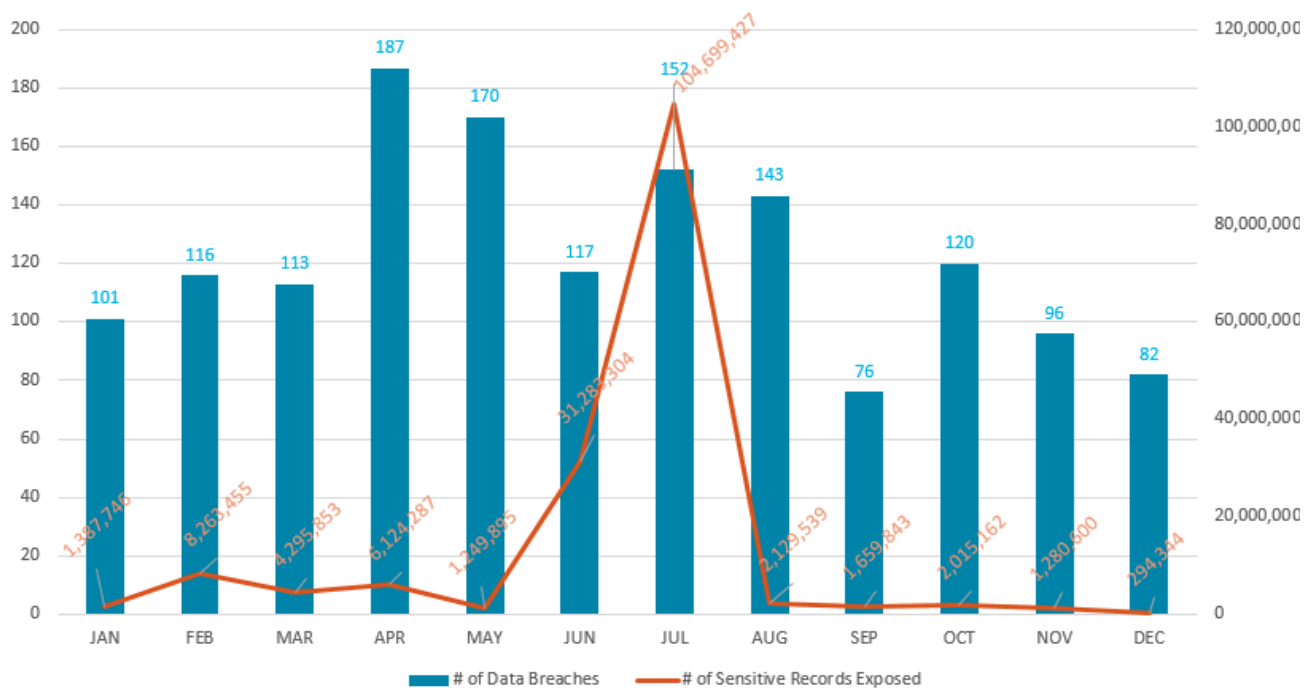

When examining the percentage of data breaches versus the percentage of records exposed per method, there were some interesting trends. Hacking, for example, was responsible for the highest percentage of data breaches (39 percent) and the highest number of non-sensitive records exposed (81 percent) while only responsible for nine percent of sensitive records exposed. Unauthorized access was the second most common method of breach identified with nearly the same percentage as Hacking at 36.5 percent of the overall number of data breaches in 2019. Unauthorized Access exposed significantly more sensitive records than Hacking – 86 percent of the total number of sensitive records exposed.

Breaches in the Business sector topped two categories: data breaches (44 percent) and non-sensitive records exposed (99.99 percent) in 2019. The Business sector only accounted for 11.43 percent of the total number of sensitive records exposed per industry for the year. The Medical/Healthcare sector, while being the second most industry breached in 2019 (36 percent of the total number of breaches reported in 2019), had the second highest percentage of sensitive records exposed (24 percent) and the lowest percentage of non-sensitive records exposed (zero percent). The Banking/Credit/Financial sector had the second lowest percentage of data breaches (eight percent) in 2019, but had the highest percentage of sensitive records exposed (61 percent) per industry for the year.

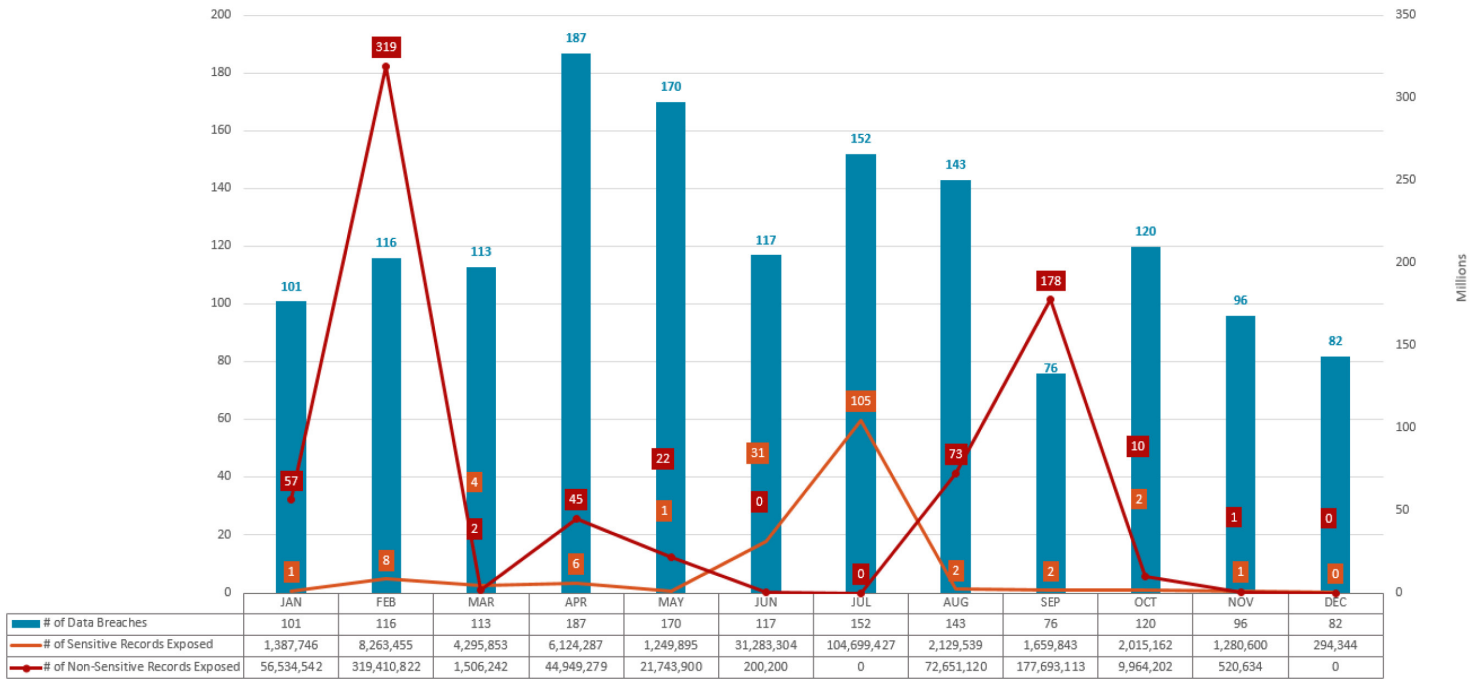

| METHOD OF BREACH | # of breaches | % of total breaches | # of sensitive records exposed | % of total sensitive records exposed |

Information and Background on ITRC

Information management is critically important to all of us - as employees and consumers. For that reason, the Identity Theft Resource Center has been tracking security breaches since 2005, looking for patterns, new trends and any information that may better help us to educate consumers and businesses on the need for understanding the value of protecting personal identifying information.

What is a breach? The ITRC defines a data breach as an incident in which an individual name plus a Social Security number, driver's license number, medical record or financial record (credit/debit cards included) is potentially put at risk because of exposure. This exposure can occur either electronically or in paper format. The ITRC will also capture breaches that do not, by the nature of the incident, trigger data breach notification laws. Generally, these breaches consist of the exposure of user names, emails and passwords without involving sensitive personal identifying information. These breach incidents will be included by name but without the total number of records exposed in the cumulative annual total.

There are currently two ITRC breach reports which are updated and posted on-line on a weekly basis. The ITRC Breach Report presents detailed information about data exposure events along with running totals for a specific year. Breaches are broken down into five categories, as follows: business, banking/credit/financial, educational, Government/Military and medical/healthcare. The ITRC Breach Stats Report provides a summary of this information by category. Other more detailed reports may be generated on a quarterly basis or as dictated by trends.

It should be noted that data breaches are not all alike. Security breaches can be broken down into a number of additional sub-categories by what happened and what information (data) was exposed. What they all have in common is they usually contain personal identifying information (PII) in a format easily read by thieves, in other words, not encrypted.

The ITRC currently tracks seven categories of data loss methods: Insider Theft, Hacking (which includes Spearphishing, Ransomware, and Skimming), Data on the Move, Employee error/Negligence/Improper disposal/Lost, Accidental web/Internet Exposure, Physical Theft and Unauthorized Access. (Please note that Accidental email, previously included with Accidental web/Internet Exposure, has been re-categorized under the Employee error/Negligence/Improper disposal/Lost category.) Subcontractor/Third Party/BA is included here but is combined with one of the above. In these, as well as some other breaches, there may be more than one category checked.

The ITRC breach list also tracks types of information compromised:

- Social Security number
- Credit/Debit Card number
- Protected Health Information (PHI)
- DMV Records
- Financial Accounts
- Email/Password/User Name
- Other/Undefined Type of Records

Methodology

The ITRC breach list is a compilation of data breaches confirmed by various media sources or notification lists from state governmental agencies. This list is updated daily, and published each Tuesday.

Breaches on this list typically have exposed information which could potentially lead to identity theft, including Social Security numbers, financial account information, or medical information. ITRC follows U.S. Federal guidelines about what combination of personal information comprise a unique individual, and the exposure of which will constitute a data breach.

Records Reported:

This field has been changed to more accurately reflect the circumstances surrounding the number of records exposed. The numeral "0" has been replaced with "Unknown" - recognizing the number of records may have been reported to some other entity (i.e. government or law enforcement), but is not provided in the information available to the ITRC.

Breach categories:

Business: This category encompasses retail services, hospitality and tourism, professional, trade, transportation, utilities, payment processors and other entities not included in the other four sectors. It also includes nonprofit organizations, industry associations, non-government social service providers, as well as life insurance companies and insurance brokers (non-medical).

Education: Any public or private educational facility, from pre-school through university level. This category does not include scholarship providers, after school entities, or tutoring organizations.

Medical/Healthcare: Any medical covered entity (CE) or business associate (BA), as defined by HIPAA, in the healthcare industry. Also includes healthcare facilities and organizations which may be attached to schools and universities, and may include pharmaceutical manufacturers. Insurance companies may vary by industry – medical and long term insurance providers will be classified as medical healthcare. (Included on hhs.gov list).

Covered entities are defined in the HIPAA rules as (1) health plans, (2) health care clearinghouses, and (3) health care providers who electronically transmit any health information in connection with transactions for which HHS has adopted standards.

A "business associate" is a person or entity that performs certain functions or activities that involve the use or disclosure of protected health information on behalf of, or provides services to, a covered entity.

Government/Military: Any city, county, state, national or military entity; or a department within one of these entities. In the event that a medical facility is also a government or military entity, it will be listed under Government/Military. Entities such as Veteran Association Medical Centers (VAMC) will be included in this sector.

Banking/Credit/Financial: This sector includes entities such as banks, credit unions, credit card companies, mortgage and loan brokers, financial services, investment firms and trust companies, payday lenders and pension funds (401 savings plans)

2019 Breaches Identified by the ITRC as of: 1/8/2020

Total Breaches: 1,473
Records Exposed: 164,683,455

The Identity Theft Resource Center breach database is updated daily and published to our website weekly. A US-based breach, as identified by our current process, is considered public when one of these occur:

1) Published by a credible source (sources include Offices of the Attorney General, and established media – TV news, radio, newspapers)

2) A letter notifying a potential victim has been received

ITRC will provide attribution of the source and include the relevant data to the extent that has been made public in our findings. If the number of records is not made publicly available, ITRC will note that in the report as “unknown” indicating we do not have the specifics of the actual number impacted. Identity Theft Resource Center reserves the right to make an educated estimate to the potential of impact based on our knowledge and understanding of the specifics of the policies of the reporting entity.

The ITRC would like to thank CyberScout for its financial support of the ITRC Breach Report, ITRC Breach Stats Report and all supplemental breach reports.

2019 Breaches Identified by the ITRC as of: 1/8/2020

Total Breaches: 1,473
Records Exposed: 164,683,455

The Identity Theft Resource Center breach database is updated daily and published to our website weekly. A US-based breach, as identified by our current process, is considered public when one of these occur:

1) Published by a credible source (Sources include Offices of the Attorney General, and established media – TV news, radio, newspapers)

2) A letter notifying a potential victim has been received

ITRC will provide attribution of the source and include the relevant data to the extent that has been made public in our findings. If the number of records is not made publicly available, ITRC will note that in the report as “unknown” indicating we do not have the specifics of the actual number impacted. Identity Theft Resource Center reserves the right to make an educated estimate to the potential of impact based on our knowledge and understanding of the specifics of the policies of the reporting entity..

The ITRC would like to thank CyberScout for its financial support of the ITRC Breach Report, ITRC Breach Stats Report and all supplemental breach reports.

WANT EVEN MORE?

For more details regarding the annual numbers for data breaches reported to the Identity Theft Resource Center, please see the reports located in the appendix. Each report will provide more granular detail about the incidents reported as much as was made publicly made available. Additionally, the data will be updated throughout 2020 should new information become available for incidents in the 2019 calendar year.
